100 Years of Boy Scouting in America

The achievement is not simply longevity.

The Boy Scouts of America has become one of the largest and most prominent values-based youth development organizations in the nation. The BSA provides a program for young people that builds character, trains them in the responsibilities of participating citizenship, and combines educational activities with hands-on, outdoor fun.

The outcome of Scouting is and has been a significant contribution to a more conscientious, responsible, and productive society. From presidents, to astronauts, to captains of industry – the BSA has graduated countless leaders who have gone forward to make a positive impact on our world.

The Mohegan Council currently serves almost 5,000 youngsters ranging in ages from 6 to 18 years and engages over 1,800 registered volunteers in the delivery of programs. Since the Council was organized almost a century ago, more than half a million individuals in the Worcester region have benefited from their association with Scouting.

Additionally the regional community has benefited from the presence of Scouting and its mission to provide service. Throughout the decades scouts have dedicated countless hours to improving life throughout Worcester County.

Scouts mobilized to assist with a city-wide housefly eradication to reduce the incidence of disease in 1912. They planted over 100,000 trees in the late 1920s, sold war bonds and helped with food, aluminum and paper drives in the 1940s, and introduced the scout initiative “Get Out and Vote” in the 1950s.

The Mohegan Council, BSA has been on the forefront of responding to social needs in our community. In 1966, an outreach program was introduced to engage inner city youngsters in the benefits of the scouting program. Young people who would not ordinarily have had the opportunity participated in a “Camping for Character” program at Treasure Valley Scout Reservation. This program continues today as Scoutreach.

Hug a Tree

The Hug-a-Tree and survive program was designed to teach children ages 5-12 basic survival skills if they get lost in the woods and is presented by our Venturing Crew 2083 from Holden.

Aldrich Astronomical Show

The Aldrich Astronomical Society, Inc. has been offering astronomy and space educational enrichment activities in local venues since 1932! The Aldrich name comes from Professor Fred David Aldrich who was a very well liked Professor at Worcester Academy in the early 1900s and used to run passionate astronomy outreach programs in the community aimed at getting youth interested in science. We have offered scouts throughout the Massachusetts area our member knowledge and volunteer help in earning badges, pins & belt loops based on current knowledge of astronomy and space science. We also have expanded our programs through direct links with NASA volunteer efforts like the NASA/JPL Solar System Ambassador Program, the Saturn Observation Campaign and the Night Sky Network!

Order of the Arrow

The Order of the Arrow (OA) is the national honor society of the Boy Scouts of America (BSA). It uses Native American-styled traditions and ceremonies to bestow recognition on scouts selected by their peers as best exemplifying the ideals of Scouting. Inducted members, known as Arrowmen or Brothers, number more than 180,000 youth and adults. Members wear identifying insignia on their uniforms, most notably the OA sash, and are eligible for special OA awards. The OA program sponsors several events, awards, and training functions.

Eagle Scout and Astronaut Joe Tanner

Selected as an astronaut in 1992, Tanner first flew aboard the space shuttle Atlantis on the STS-66 Atmospheric Laboratory for Applications and Science-3 mission in 1994. He then made two spacewalks to service the Hubble Space Telescope on STS-82 in 1997. Tanner's third mission was STS-97 in 2000 on Endeavour's flight to the International Space Station to install the first set of U.S. solar arrays, during which he did three spacewalks. On his last flight, Tanner's crew installed another set of solar arrays, continuing construction of the station on STS-115 in 2006. He conducted two spacewalks.

Tanner is a senior instructor in the aerospace engineering sciences department at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

Boys of the Town

After years of individually exploring various musical genres, these three friends teamed up for a benefit performance last year for Treasure Valley and discovered a common love: Celtic-based music. They have been performing together regularly since then. With Eagle Scout John Ebersold on guitar and vocals, Life Scout (soon to be Eagle) Hunter Foote on fiddle and Eagle Scout Tim Loftus on flute, whistle and bodhrán, the Boys of the Town deliver top-shelf entertainment from high energy, toe-tapping jigs and reels to heartfelt ballads.

(Save Our American Resources) that focused on environmental abuse. With this program, scouts led the way to clean up waterways, lakes, parks and recreational properties.

Scout training in emergency preparedness was relied upon in the aftermath of the 1938 hurricane, the 1979 tornado, and the ice storm of 2008. Today, scouts are being prepared for a response to the Asian long-horned beetle epidemic. They will aid with the removal of infected trees and plant saplings in their place.

Introducing...

Phoenix Swords

Swords, puppets, and fire but not all at once! Phoenix Swords is a performance troupe, based in Central Massachusetts. Their main focus, sword work, has strong roots in medieval sword manuals and western martial arts study. Not only have members presented at symposia with the Renaissance Center of the University of Massachusetts, but at just as ready to do comedy stage sword work for all ages. Our historical show has weapons demonstrations from 1300s to 1600, daggers up to poll arms. From birthday parties to full medieval faires, Phoenix Swords is happy to siege the stage! For more information, go to www.phoenixswords.com

Belly Dance Showcase

Dancers from all over Central Massachusetts will perform various family-friendly dances of the Middle East. Performers include members of the Northeast Belly Dance Association "Belly Button" chapter.

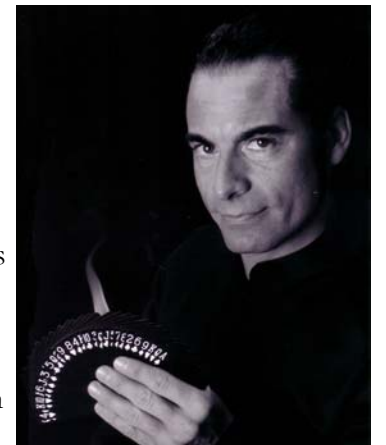

Abby Kelley Foster Charter School Show Choir

Abby Kelley Foster Charter School is a local public school founded in 1998. Today the school serves a diverse population of nearly 1400 students. The school's mission is centered on classic liberal arts education and founded in 12 core character virtues. The fine and performing arts are an essential component of the classical liberal arts philosophy. From Kindergarten through grade 12, students are exposed to a breadth and depth of artistic expression not often found in schools. Abby Kelley Foster has a comprehensive arts program that lets students explore the visual arts, music (with emphases on music theory, history, and performance), and dance.

Jozeph - Magic Master

His award winning performances are designed to entertain and impress any people of all ages. This is not silly magic by any means although there is a hint of humor with his hocus-pocus. He performs for all kinds of events; private or public. Don't blink or turn away even for a second because when he starts it's a non-stop rapid-fire fun-frenzy, full of surprises from the get-go. Everyone, no matter the age, gender or culture will get a kick out of his wit & wizardry. Buckle up in the magic zone because it's full throttle! Enjoy the ride!
